Vic McCristal DVD
 'The man they call McSea'

Introduced by Steve Starling, this new release DVD, is a documentary about the life and times of Vic McCristal, the person many regard as being our founding father of sportfishing and modern outdoor journalism in this country.

This is the story of a man who helped pioneer our nation's love for outdoors adventure and fishing generally. Just as importantly Vic McCristal was a driving force in creating the sportfishing ethos so many of us share today.

His writing set a benchmark of quality that influenced most fishing literature of its time. McCristal's books, articles and philosophies changed the way Australians fish, and unowned to most his legacy will continue to influence many future fishing generations.

This film gives an intimate understanding of the man, making us more aware of our recreational fishing roots and this man's due status in our country's history. This is a vital story that every fisherman should know.

A copy of 'The man they called McSea' costs 29.95 including delivery. For more information or to place an order visit www.vic-mccristal-dvd.com, phone 0416056074 or write to 3 Keirle St North Manly NSW 2100.
